Foreign investors saw another strong net buying on HNX of 8.5 billion (+2.6%). In which, PTSC-PVS (+8.0 billion), Tien Phong Plastic-NTP (+1.1 billion), Vinh Phuc Infrastructure-IDV (+0.7 billion) were bought the most. In technical term, VN-Index saw the 6th gain in a row. The volume dropped but was still above 20 session average, showing that the cash flow was still on the market. Not just that, the index was above MA5 and MA5, 10, and 20 differentiated positively, showing that it was still on recovering trend. If positive, the index might still move to challenge 982.8 points (Fib 161.8). However, on day candle chart, Doji candle formed and RSI moved to 78, showing over buying sign. Therefore, it is still possible that the index might see a shake-off correction at current level to support level around 918-920 points (MA20). Therefore, investors need to be cautious at high price chasing purchase. For HNX, HNX-Index saw similar situation. The index saw the 4th gain in a row but is forming a thinner body candle, showing that the gaining trend is slowing down. Therefore, it is still possible that the index might need a shake-off correction to support level around 134.8-135 points (MA20). In general, the market is on recovering trend. However, warning signs on the drop of gaining trend appeared and the market might need a correction to support current trend. Therefore, investors should consider selling some to create a good position for returning when the market sees a shake-off.
