REMARKABLE POINTS ON THE MARKET

The market suddenly gained again on Wednesday as main indexes closed at day highest level. In most trading time, the market struggled within a small range below reference as pillar codes differentiated. However, in only a few minutes at the end, bottom-catching demand joined in strongly. Starting from steel, green spread widely on many other pillar groups like banking, securities, retail, and petro. Midcap and penny groups were also positive with many positive gaining groups like industrial park, textile, and especially plastic with many limit gainers. The market leaned completely on buyers, and the liquidity was the highest in recent 8 sessions, showing that the cash flow tended to return.

TECHNICAL POINT OF VIEW

In technical term, VN-Index gained again. The volume stayed below 10 and 20-session average, showing cautious cash flow. Not just that, the index stayed below MA5, and MA5 still differentiated negatively from MA20, showing that short-term dropping pressure is still there and this gain is only a recovering sign. Moreover, MACD still tended to drop to below Signal, maintaining selling sign, and -DI was above +DI, showing that correcting pressure still hasn't been shaken off and the index might soon see selling pressure again at resistant level of 1,050 – 1,060 points (MA20 and 50). For HNX, HNX-Index saw similar situation. The index also gained again but hasn't escaped MA5 pressure, and MA5 differentiated negatively from MA20, showing that short-term dropping pressure is still there and the gain might only be technical with close resistant around 208 points (MA20). In general, the market saw better sign after the gain on April 26, but it hasn't escaped short-term dropping pressure. Therefore, investors should only consider quick surf, having priority on good fundamental codes with positive business results that can attract the cash flow.
