REMARKABLE POINTS ON THE MARKET

The market saw the 3rd gain in a row but the gain slowed down remarkably comparing to 2 previous sessions. The information of credit growth target yesterday pushed banking codes up from early and it was the main motivation for main indexes staying in green during the session. The liquidity improved with stronger selling pressure at the end so main indexes dropped. Many pillar groups differentiated while only a few groups could see consistent green like pork, rice, industrial park, and retail.

TECHNICAL POINT OF VIEW

In technical term, VN-Index saw the 3rd gain in a row. The volume increased and stayed above 10 and 20-session average, showing that the cash flow is positive. Not just that, the index still closed above MA5, and MA5, 10, and 20 still differentiated positively, showing that short-term recovering trend is still there and the index might move to challenge sentimental resistant of 1,200 points. However, the index gained to above Bollinger band with a small candle with long upper shadow, showing that gaining trend is a little too much and selling pressure is returning. Therefore, the index might need a shake-off correction to support the main trend, with support level around peak level of 1,140 points. For HNX, HNX-Index saw similar situation, showing that the index might return to short-term recovering trend and might move to challenge close resistant around old peak level of 233 points. In general, the market is still recovering. Therefore, investors might use shaking corrections to restructure the portfolio, having priority on good-fundamental codes with Q2/2023 business results growth forecast that can attract the cash flow.
